The radar station which, in January 1953, had been located about 500 meters west of Rosalia Chapel near Oggau (P 48/X 65) was not there anymore on 20 April 1953. The installation could not even be located in the general vicinity of Oggau. The telephone lines which previously extended from the radar installation to the Seehof farmhouse, east of Oggau railroad station had been removed. The farmhouse apparently was still occupied by Soviet soldiers.

Comment: The radar station which was observed near Oggau on 22 January 1953 was a mobile Rus-2 type set which was probably used by the aircraft reporting service.
